Eight claims: the job, the chart, the defense

Partner A _____

Partner B _____ Period _____

Job out loud first, then the chart, then one sentence that names the job. "It is easy to read" is crossed out. When the other pair reads across with you, tick a match and star a difference in the margin. One sheet per pair, collected with the handout.

	CLAIM	THE JOB	THE CHART	DEFENSE: ONE SENTENCE NAMING THE JOB
A	Students who ride the bus get to school later, on average, than students who are dropped off.
B	Of everything my household threw away last week, food scraps were the biggest single share.
C	My screen time climbed all fall and peaked over winter break.
D	The 4:15 bus is unpredictable. Most days I wait about four minutes. Every couple of weeks I wait almost twenty.
E	In our class, students who sleep more hours tend to report lower stress.
F	The blocks near this school that have no sidewalk are almost all on the east side.
G	Follow the freshmen who started in Algebra I: here is where they ended up in math by senior year, and how many took each path.
H	The senior survey says 62% want a later start time, but only 40 seniors answered it, so that 62% could easily be off by a lot.

Starred claim you argued over most: _____ The defense neither pair had, written by the team on the back.
